All Things Possible Ministries: ATP Ministries non-profit, A Ministry That Identifies, Interrupts, & Restores Those Affected By Trauma

ATP Ministries, headed by Victor Marx, is an international organization outreaching to broken youth, families, orphans, and widows in nations across the globe. Victor is motivated entirely by the mission to heal and restore those who have been victimized and traumatized, from widows who have lost their husbands to children held captive by ISIS. Because of his own powerful story of surviving abuse as a kid, being left for dead in a cooler at age five, forgiving his abusers, and living a transformed life through a personal relationship with Jesus, he is able to engage audiences of all types, giving them hope for overcoming their own pain. A transparent account of his life has been chronicled in his book and documentary film, The Victor Marx Story. ATP Ministries has also produced two documentaries focused on trauma recovering and healing: “Triggered: Military Edition” and “Triggered Too.”

ATP’s outreach also extends overseas to fractured communities in Northern Iraq, Syria, Burma and Cambodia. Children in these areas have had to flee their homes, schools, and communities. They are often housed in IDP camps (internally displaced persons) and have limited access to basic necessities. During his high-risk missionary work in Iraq, Victor and his wife, Eileen, recognized the need for comfort and joy in these children’s lives. They began delivering Lion and The Lamb comfort toys, which are filled with calming music and prayers in their own language, and noticed an immediate impact in the lives of children that received them. They have now delivered over 21,000 of these little healing tools. In 2017, ATP also opened its first orphanage overseas in Iraq, as well as launching a widows and orphans ministry here in the US.

Today, Victor and his wife Eileen continue to reach broken children and families in the U.S. and abroad.
